Networking Shines as China Remains Unresolved

Networking and Gaming fill the China gap that remains in flux.

Compute came in below our estimate in the quarter with no China contribution, and the headline October guide just missed where we have been hearing the buy-side was. On the flip side, overall demand commentary remains overwhelmingly positive with new $3-4T AI infrastructure spend by the end of the decade, >$20B of sovereign AI revenue this year, and new products in Spectrum-XGS for "scale-across". In July, Networking and Gaming positively surprised with SpectrumX now run rating at >$10B. The company isn't including $2-5B of China H2O revenue in the guide which we would anticipate could come into the model at some point in the quarter. The company has licenses, but it seems like China isn't taking the product at this point given the political back and forth. Mgmt is also hoping to become approved to ship a Blackwell variant. With the pie continuing to grow rapidly, we believe NVDA is still best positioned in the booming AI market.

Why OVERWEIGHT?

We are OW as the company has long-term sustainable growth led by a large lead in GPUs for AI in DC, with further Edge opportunities (Autos, robots, etc.) and a competitive moat around a large portion of the market.

Upside case USD 250.00

Our upside case of $250 is based upon 33x our upside CY26E non-GAAP EPS of $7.50, which assumes larger TAM for AI in the DC, higher Networking attach, and higher GMs.

Downside case USD 140.00

Our downside case of $140 is based upon 23x our downside CY26E non-GAAP EPS of $6.00, which assumes a correction of AI spending in the DC, a slower Auto ramp and pricing/share pressure.

Upside/Downside scenarios

Gaming and Networking Drives the Beat: July revenue beat slightly at $46.7B (+6% Q/Q, vs. St. $46.2B) driven by better Gaming and Networking. By segment, Data Center was roughly in-line at $41.1B (+5% Q/Q, vs. St. $41.3B) driven by demand for accelerated computing platforms for LLMs, recommendation engines, and generative and agentic AI applications. Within DC, Compute revenue was $33.8B (-1% Q/Q) with Blackwell growing 17% Q/Q. Networking was up significantly at $7.3B (+46% Q/Q) due to growth of NVLink compute fabric for GB200 and GB300 systems, ramp of XDR InfiniBand products, and adoption of Ethernet for AI solutions at CSPs and other internet companies. Cloud providers were ~50% of DC revenue, roughly in-line with the previous quarter. Gaming came in ahead at $4.3B (+14% Q/Q vs. St. $3.8B) with increased supply of Blackwell product. ProViz came in ahead at $601M (+18% Q/Q vs. St. $532M) driven by Blackwell sales in Notebook products. Auto came in roughly in-line at $586M (+3% Q/Q vs. St. $593M) and OEM/Other came in above at $173M (+56% Q/Q, vs. St. $111M). GMs came in at 72.7% vs. St. 72.1%. Opex came in slightly below at $3.8B (vs. St. $4.0B) but up Q/Q due to compute and infrastructure costs, as well as higher compensation and benefits. All-in, this nets EPS above at $1.05 vs. St. $1.01.

Guide Largely In-Line: Guides October revenue just above to $54.0B (+15.5% Q/Q vs. St. $53.5B) which assumes no H20 shipments to China. Management expects Blackwell to drive revenue growth and all segments excluding DC to grow LSD in aggregate. We model Data Center up +18% Q/Q with +18% Q/Q growth in Compute and +20% Q/Q growth in Networking. We model Gaming up +2%, Auto up +5% Q/Q, ProViz up +2% Q/Q, and OEM & Other up +1% Q/Q. Guides GM in-line at 73.5% vs. Street 73.4%. Guides opex in-line to $4.2B (vs. St. $4.2B), OIE to an income of $500M, and tax rate of 16.5%. All in, this nets an implied EPS of $1.23 vs. St. $1.21. Looking further, mgmt expects to exit the year with GM in the mid-70s% and FY26 opex growth in the high 30s%.

Our coverage analysts use a relative rating system in which they rate stocks as Overweight, Equal Weight or Underweight (see definitions below) relative to other companies covered by the analyst or a team of analysts that are deemed to be in the same industry (the "industry coverage universe").

In addition to the stock rating, we provide industry views which rate the outlook for the industry coverage universe as Positive, Neutral or Negative (see definitions below). A rating system using terms such as buy, hold and sell is not the equivalent of our rating system. Overweight - The stock is expected to outperform the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Equal Weight - The stock is expected to perform in line with the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Underweight - The stock is expected to underperform the unweighted expected total return of the industry coverage universe over a 12-month investment horizon.

Rating Suspended - The rating and target price have been suspended temporarily due to market events that made coverage impracticable or to comply with applicable regulations and/or firm policies in certain circumstances including where the Investment Bank of Barclays Bank PLC is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or strategic transaction involving the company.

Industry View

Sustainable Investing Related Research: There is currently no globally accepted framework or definition (legal, regulatory or otherwise) of, nor market consensus as to what constitutes a 'sustainable', 'ESG', 'green', 'climate-friendly' or an equivalent company, investment, strategy or consideration or what precise attributes are required to be eligible to be categorised by such terms. This means there are different ways to evaluate a company or an investment and so different values may be placed on certain sustainability credentials as well as adverse ESG-related impacts of companies and ESG controversies. The evolving nature of sustainable investing considerations, models and methodologies means it can be challenging to definitively and universally classify a company or investment under a sustainable investing label and there may be areas where such companies and investments could improve or where adverse ESG-related impacts or ESG controversies exist. The evolving nature of sustainable finance related regulations and the development of jurisdiction-specific regulatory criteria also means that there is likely to be a degree of divergence as to the interpretation of such terms in the market. We expect industry guidance, market practice, and regulations in this field to continue to evolve.

Any information, data, image, or other content including from a third party source contained, referred to herein or used for whatsoever purpose by Barclays or a third party ("Information"), in relation to any actual or potential 'ESG', 'sustainable' or equivalent objective, issue, factor or consideration is not intended to be relied upon for ESG or sustainability classification, regulatory regime or industry initiative purposes ("ESG Regimes"), unless otherwise stated. Nothing in these materials, including any images included therein, is intended to convey, suggest or indicate that Barclays considers or represents any product, service, person or body mentioned in these materials as meeting or qualifying for any ESG or sustainability classification, label or similar standards that may exist under ESG Regimes. Barclays has not conducted any assessment of compliance with ESG Regimes. Parties are reminded to make their own assessments for these purposes.
