Crypto Market Positioning

A New Report from Coinbase Research

View report

Our inaugural Coinbase Institutional Crypto Market Positioning monthly report looks at how the market is positioned in multiple crypto assets across a diverse set of instruments (where available).

Key insights from July 2025:

- Perhaps unsurprisingly, speculative positioning in the large cap crypto names climbed sharply over the past month, evidenced by rising futures open interest, record levels of US spot ETF inflows and more net accumulation by short-term holders.
- Orderbook depth suggests ETH upside faces strong resistance: a July spike in ask liquidity 2–5% above the mid-price aligned with its local top and now forms a strong sell wall that bulls will need to overcome. BTC's depth is starting to find balance, leaving its price path tied more to new catalysts rather than entrenched order-book pressure.
- A healthier market structure is mirrored onchain: Transfer activity, fee generation and transaction counts are all advancing, driving the composite onchain adoption index toward cycle highs. Capital parked in stablecoins continues to rise, providing dry powder for incremental deployment.
